St. Joe Marching Band Performs at State Game

Behind the pace setting of drum major, Dick Winans, St. Joe's Varsity marching band took the field last Saturday in their inaugural performance of the year. The band decked out in their new uniforms purchased last spring combined precision marching, various formations, and musical variety into an entertaining half time program.

The band formed a letter "M" to represent North West Missouri State. They then played "The Missouri Waltz" in honor of the visiting team.

Band forms "J"

Next the band maneuvered into a formation which represented the Twin Towers of the Collegeville chapel. While in this formation, the band played the sacred hymn, Beautiful Savior."

No half time performance would be complete without the forming of the school letter. The band responded to the occasion and formed a "J." Then the liveliest piece of the program as far as the St. Joe student body was concerned, the St. Joe Fight Song, was played as all Joemen stood up and sang.

Band Travels to Xavier

Much of the credit for this fine performance should go to the new band director, Mr. Adam P. Lesinsky. Mr. Lesinsky came to St. Joe this year from Whiting, Ind., where he was head of the music department of the Whiting Public Schools for 26 years.

Mr. Lesinsky and a small group of band members traveled to the Xavier game and then upon returning they began preparations for Saturday's initial performance as a complete unit.

Library Obtains Grant of $1500 By Foundation

The Collegeville library in its ever-increasing desire to afford to the students of St. Joe the best in books, periodicals, and other reference material has received a $1500 grant from the Earhart Foundation in Ann Arbor, Mich. Upon the recommendation of Drs. Chen and Jones, Fr. Banet sought to increase the Accounting, Business Administration, and Economics collections.

It was found that the budget could not meet the buildup of these collections as was originally planned. As a result, a grant was applied for and received from the Earhart Foundation in the latter part of June.

Fr. Banet also announced that Mr. Gilbert Coble of Indianapolis, Ind., a music teacher in the Indianapolis elementary schools, has donated a record collection and several music books to the library. The contact for this donation was made indirectly by Gil Hodges. When Mr. Coble learned that Gil Hodges was a graduate of St. Joseph's, he decided to give his collections to the St. Joe library.

In a staff change in the library, Ron Barrans, a priesthood student on a leave of absence from the seminary, has replaced Bro. Damien. Bro. Damien will probably be back next year. Presently he is working in the St. Charles Seminary library, Carthage, Ohio.

Remodeling of Rec Hall, Cafeteria Nearly Done

By Jerry Bosch

During the past months of summer and in these early weeks of fall, both the Rec hall and the student cafeteria have undergone remodeling and expansion. The work is expected to be completed in 2-3 weeks' time.

The remodeling of the Recreation hall, a $20,000 project, will entail the construction of a new addition built along the entire west side of the building. This new addition will house a ladies' lounge, a coat-check room, hobby shop, barber shop, the counter and kitchen, rest rooms, store room, hobby shop and manager's office.

Larger Dancing Floor

The project, designed by Mr. Frank Fischer, A.I.A., Rensselaer and Chicago architect, will also divide what was the old Rec hall into a dining area at the north end; a partitioned lounge and television room at the south end and a recreation area in the middle. Indirect fluorescent lighting will be installed throughout.

This arrangement will allow room for dancing on almost the entire floor space of the original building.

Terrace To Lend Beauty

Cooking will be done on grills behind a 20-foot counter set up off the dining area on the extreme north end rather than in a rear kitchen as before.

On the front wall of the exterior of the building a curved brick wall will enclose a concrete roofless terrace. Brick foyers will be constructed at each end of the terrace leading into the building, and around the entrances into the north and south ends of the Rec hall.

Wood Panels for Cafeteria

To create a homelike atmosphere in the cafeteria, the remodeling there will involve the installation of new decorative light fixtures, a new sound system, the concealing of the pipes suspended from the ceiling, a new window treatment, and wood paneling on some of the walls.

To accommodate more students faster, a new double-cafeteria serving counter was installed in the old serving area.

Remove Cafeteria Walls

The north wall of the serving area, the south wall of the dining room and the east wall of the Xavier dining room have all been removed.

In addition, three new dining rooms for the priests, lay faculty and guests are to be built.

The work on the dining room started on July 29 in the hope that it would be completed in time for the opening of the fall semester. The opening of school was delayed a week to allow further time for the remodeling projects on both the cafeteria and Rec hall.

Fr. Gross Says Inaugural Mass Greet Students of 67th Year

By Greg Mahoney

With the opening of the 1957-58 school year, St. Joseph's celebrated its 67th year of teaching since its foundation in 1889. The college this year boasts a total enrollment of 898 students, the largest attendance in the school's history.

Of this number, 532 are returning students or students who are re-entering St. Joe for a second time. New students comprise a total of 311, with 55 Xavier Seminarians rounding out the total figure. This year's enrollment represents an increase of 62 over the 836 of 1956-57.

Annual Mass Opens Year

The academic year was officially opened by the traditional Solemn High Mass in the fieldhouse, Thursday night, Sept. 19. The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, reappointed to his third term as president of St. Joseph's, said the Mass and delivered the welcoming sermon.

Fr. Gross greeted the returning and new students and the new Xavier class for the year which, he said, "gives every promise of being a blessed one for the students and for the college." He reminded the students of the duty they have to take full advantage of the educational opportunities of St. Joseph's and their obligation to make use of their talents.

Fr. Gross Back For 3rd Term

According to an announcement by the Very Rev. Seraphin W. Oberhauser, C.P.P.S., provincial of the Society of the Most Precious Blood and president of the College Board of Control, the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, C.P.P.S., has been reappointed to his third term as president of St. Joseph's college. Fr. Gross' third term became effective July 1st of this year.

The Very Rev. Leonard J. Kostka, C.P.P.S., associate professor of religion and chaplain of the college, assumed the duties of Religious Supervisor of the college, a position which Fr. Gross held along with the presidency. Father Gross was relieved of the position because of the increasing number of responsibilities connected with his present office and because he would have required special permission from Rome to obtain a third term as religious superior of the Precious Blood Community at St. Joseph's.

Since 1951 under Fr. Gross' leadership, enrollment has almost doubled. Construction of the two new residence halls will make a total of four which have been erected during his presidency.

Fr. Gross was born in Celina, Ohio in 1912. He entered the Society of the Most Precious Blood in 1927 and was ordained in 1938. After receiving his Bachelor's degree from St. Joseph's in 1940 and his Master's in English at the University of Michigan the following year, Fr. Gross taught English here for seven years.

He obtained his Ph.D., in English from the University of Montreal in 1951, just before his first appointment as president.

Orientation For Newcomers

Every student of the college, Fr. Gross said, bears the responsibility of becoming trained, cultured Christians, to become the stalwart leaders of the new generation which will take its place in a world drawing dangerously near paganistic materialism.

All freshmen and those upperclassmen who had not previously been enrolled at St. Joseph's reported to the campus on Sunday, Sept. 15. Beginning that evening and until the opening of classes on Friday, Sept. 20, the new students took part in special orientation exercises in which they learned about the traditions, regulations, and opportunities of St. Joe.

Remodeling Delays Opening

Returning and re-entering students reported to the campus on Thursday, Sept. 19 for official enrollment and payment of fees in the fieldhouse.

Because of the unfinished work in the remodeled cafeteria and Rec hall, the opening of the college was postponed a week from the proposed starting date of Sept. 12.

Bro. Larry Replaces Retiring Postmaster

As you have no doubt noticed, a familiar face behind the window of the Collegeville Post Office is missing, that of George Horan, veteran postmaster of St. Joe. "George," as he was known to the students, retired on Aug. 31.

Brother Larry, who is also prefect in the Administration building, succeeded to Mr. Horan's position.

Tom Donahue, a junior from Chicago, with previous postal experience in the army, is assisting Brother Larry.

STARTING THE SCHOOL YEAR

Fr. Gross, president of St. Joseph's college, distributes Holy Communion at the traditional opening Mass in the fieldhouse. Assisting him are Frs. Lubeley and O'Dell. Frs. Kostka and Baird are also shown distributing the Blessed Sacrament.

Here's One Got a Minute? Do Any of These Pertain You?

Orientation week 1957 is history now but the school year 1957-1958 is not. It will be with us for quite a while yet. Why not start studying right away this year?

St. Joe is known throughout the Indiana Collegiate Conference as a school with tremendous school spirit. The wonderful idea of school spirit should not be misconstrued. It is not just the actions of cheering at a football or basketball game. These are only outward expressions. School spirit is a desire, a desire to be loyal at all times to your school both on and off the campus. One either has it or he doesn't.

All of us have the tendency of being "chronic worriers" in one way or another. Worrying about the next date on our trip home, worrying whether one of the profs will throw a quiz at us, sweating out the grade reports. You name it. We worry about it. A good way to cure some of the unnecessary worrying anyway might be to remember this saying: "Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday."

This is a student paper, for all the students. Perhaps you've had a letter in mind for the Letters to the Editor column for a long time but you have just never gotten around to writing it. Letters to the Editor are always welcome. The more letters we get the more we know that Stuff is reaching and influencing a greater part of the student body toward increased school spirit. Don't say it. Write it and send it in.

Conversation Piece

During the summer some of us no doubt thought about how the integration problem would work out in the South this year with the opening of school. Maybe that swaggering exponent of segregation, John Kasper, would start his shenanigans again. Maybe there would be other flare-ups against integration, but it looked as though the move toward desegregation might go rather smoothly compared to previous years.

When the school bells began to clang throughout the country, John Kasper, as usual, was on the scene stirring up the people of Nashville with his rabble-rousing soap box oratory. Kasper's actions were expected and did not create the furor and frenzy that he had hoped to attain.

Down in Arkansas a new foe of integration entered the picture. Through supposed executive action for the public good, Governor Orville Faubus stationed national guard troops around Little Rock's Central high school to prevent a group of Negro students from entering the school.

The Arkansas situation is just another in the long line of events which brings out the childishness of the Southern states. They insist on playing the game of government like a group of children playing with puppets.

These pre-adolescent actions of the part of Southern governors and senators over the integration problem certainly must take a toll on the pro-American sentiment of our foreign allies. How can we expect to lead a crumbling world if we can't even agree on a simple matter of human relations?

Fresh Impression Of College Life

Tom Meehan, Bardstown, Ky.

To begin to attend a college is to become a man. No more is he under the so-called "rune" of parental and teacher supervision.

In college the young man is more on his own to work and study hard. If he doesn't do this, he fails and no one but he and his family suffer.

Of course he is not left out entirely on his own. Many competent professors and counselors are on hand to give him help when he needs it.

Bob Klein, Chicago, Ill.

My first opinion was that it was a little more than high school. I was wrong it is quite different.

One thing that impressed me was the atmosphere which is different from any of those that I have experienced before. This atmosphere gives one a closer feeling toward school.

Another thing which I am not accustomed to is the responsibility which is placed on me, for in high school everyone was treated like children, always being told what to do.

On the whole I like college and I am sure a lot of other fellows feel the same.

John McLain, Joliet, Ill.

College life is really a transition from adolescence to manhood. It is much more profitable to undergo this transition in college where one gains a valuable education.

College life requires more personal work from the student. The individual is taught to work by himself and to work with others. When living on campus one learns to live with others and to accept them for what they are.

I personally think it is an excellent experience and a valuable part of attaining manhood.

Jim Chambers, Chicago, Ill.

As a high school senior planning to enter college, I experienced what was known in my school as "Operation Propaganda." This consisted of lectures, movies, student trips, catalogues, etc., all of which were directed toward convincing me that this or that college was the one for me.

After digging through piles of such literature, I decided that St. Joseph's was the best one for me.

St. Joe has lived up to my expectations of college life. The campus facilities are perfect for scholastic work. The sports, activities, and recreation are abundant and provide a well-rounded life for all students. The spirit of Christianity runs through the

The Bigger They Are

What Do You Think?

Recently a group of American college students on a tour of Russia accepted a bid by the leaders of Red China to visit there also. The U. S. State department strongly opposed such a trip and requested that the students not visit there. The students defied the U. S. government's orders and went to Red China anyway.

The question, therefore, arises: What benefits, if any, are these students getting out of this trip to Red China?

Wayne Kassel, junior, Berwyn, Ill.

Why does a man put his head into a lion's mouth? Why do people defy authority? These questions clearly parallel the as-entire day. The men of St. Joe are friendly, likeable, and, in short, great guys who will, in time, become my lifelong friends.

My first impression of college life? I like it!

Mike Swank, Clarksville, Ind.

I think the most apparent thing about college life is that it is completely different.

Firstly, it has a different and direct influence on a person's habits or lack of time. I never before have had so wonderful an opportunity to take advantage of such a well-balanced program for my mental, physical, and spiritual development.

Then college life is different from home life in that one is more completely dependent on himself than ever before. This builds up self-confidence in one's abilities and capacities.

Rich Lazarski, Chicago, Ill.

Perhaps the first thing one realizes upon entering college is the responsibility entrusted to himself. He's supposed to be mature enough to regulate his own life.

The set-up of the classes is a source of surprise to most students. Coming from schools where there were classes for five hours a day, the students find it unusual to go to two or three classes a day.

What might amount to a large disappointment for new students is the realization that they are no longer seniors. They now have to go through the period of being freshmen again. Uppermost in their minds is the fact that they are now college men.

Finally, the very buildings and atmosphere of the campus add to the attitude of college life. Whereas before the new students lived at home, they now have to strive for themselves and prove their own worth.

Robert Luneburg, Chicago, Ill.

The gentleman who said, "Ignorance is bliss," did not realize the plight of college freshmen. As I retired for the night that first evening, I did not fully realize what was coming. I had been alone before. I'm not the type who gets homesick easily.

I was soon swept up in the whirl of orientation and initiation. I've met a lot of fellows in these first few days, upperclassmen and sophomores. They all seem like pretty good "joes" even the sophomores.

The atmosphere here is definitely one of study. The peaceful, relaxing setting is fine for the right kind of academic preparation. The fact that I gained 10 pounds in a week says enough for the food situation.

Now that I have my teachers and have gotten into the swing of things, I feel satisfied that I will get a good college education. My teachers are friendly even though I do not fully realize what they expect of me.

I like it here but you'll never find me turning down a weekend in Chicago.

sinine behavior of these students.

What they have gained in knowledge will never equal what our country's enemies have gained in ammunition for their guns of propaganda. They defied their government to answer the mere invitation of an enemy.

Perhaps they have removed their heads from one lion's mouth so to speak by virtue of their departure from Russia but they are not out of the cage of terror yet.

I'd hate to be in a place where the air is full of stagnant ideas and where the earth is red with blood. Perhaps they should have thought about this too.

Jim Egan, junior, Chicago, Ill.

The American students who visited Red China apparently disagreed with our government's policy. They have a right to disagree.

They were wrong, though, in visiting Red China because they failed to be good citizens of the U. S. and uphold the views of the majority when they were contrary to their own views.

There is no doubt in my mind that there were some educational and cultural advantages to be gained by a trip to Red China. These benefits, however, do not justify disobeying the express will of the American people.

Vic Bortolami, senior, Chicago, Ill.

I frankly believe that the benefits these students will receive will be the facts facing, as well as puzzling, the American student today.

I'm sure that every one of these students gave serious thought to the Russian situation; but curiosity, being the uncontrollable, overwhelming power that it is, compelled these students to personally witness the Communist situation as it existed in Red China.

These students will no doubt return with information already known to the American government. All that they will accomplish by their trip is the satisfaction of their curiosity and the elimination of any doubt which they may have had in their minds concerning advantages of our democratic way of life.

Tom DeMint, junior, Springfield, Ill.

There was no benefit as I see it. It was completely in bad taste to defy the order of the State Department.

Their actions embarrassed our country and fed fuel to the propaganda machine of Red China.

They sound like a bunch of crackpots seeking publicity.

Well, Blow Me Down

The Xavier Story

Top: Unidentified SJ pass receiver sprawls in frustration. Bottom: Who's got the ball? Maybe Sherwood (L) or Regner (R) knows.

Weakened Joemen Lose Opener to Xavier, 31-13

On Sunday night, Sept. 15, Bob Jauron's St. Joe Pumas journeyed to Cincinnati for the season's gridiron opener with Xavier university. When the game-ending gun was fired, the Joemen found themselves on the short end of a 31-13 score.

The Pumas had trouble getting their offensive attack moving against the first and second string Xavier units. Not until the last quarter when Xavier head coach Harry Connolly played his third and fourth teams did the Pumas crack into the scoring column.

Klein Scores TD

Les Klein, sophomore left halfback from Lake Village, Ind., ignited a late St. Joe thrust with a 34 yard run to set up the first score. Three minutes later third stringer Klein peeled off a 50 yard run for the second and final St. Joe tally. Klein totalled 93 yards rushing in five carries for an 18.6 average to lead all St. Joe backs in that department.

Xavier piled up 19 first downs and 246 yards rushing to St. Joe's six first downs and 149 yards rushing. The Puma starting backfield of Ralph Tite, Bob Hamman, Norb Daigle, and Mike Murphy amassed only 26 yards on the ground.

Line Losses Slow Pumas

The results of the game are not a fair test of Xavier's strength but rather an indication of a weaker St. Joe team than that which opened the 1956 season with Xavier. Several key losses in the St. Joe forward wall unquestionably hampered the Pumas both offensively and defensively.

St. Joe wingman George Sherwood said after the game: "They just wanted to win that game more than we did, that's all."

Varsity Views

By Tom Donahue

A tip of my sombrero to a spirited Xavier eleven. They made no bones about the fact that they were out to maul St. Joe and make up for the moral victory the Pumas took home from Cincinnati last year. What happened to St. Joe in this ball game, I can't answer. I do know that X. is not five touchdowns better than we are. It's not the dog in the fight but the fight in the dog that counts and the boys from Cincinnati had fight to burn that evening.

On Sept. 30 Intramural cross country begins here on campus. Coach Robbins is looking forward to a good turn out. If the turn out is big enough and met with enough enthusiasm St. Joe will go into Intercollegiate competition next year. How about giving it a try? This is your chance to compete in varsity competition and help yourself while you help St. Joe.

Fr. Kuhns has run into a problem with his golf team. A lot of good golfers prefer to remain in the background rather than play on the golf team and do the school and themselves some good. This may seem hard to believe because the character of the ardent golf fan is such that he can usually be found in the living room practicing his putts any winter evening and invariably on the links any Saturday or Sunday in the summer months. But the fact remains that when the call goes out for golfers in the spring Fr. Kuhns has trouble getting a team together.

Competition is good for the soul and Fr. Kuhns would be a much happier man if he had to pick four good golfers for a particular match from a field of 20 than from five or six. He's not looking for Civil War Golfers (out in 61 and back in 65) but he does want guys that can play the game well and I know for a fact that we have plenty around campus. Let's see a big turnout in the spring and put St. Joe golfing on the level with St. Joe football and basketball.

SJ to Defend ICC Crown Against DePauw, Butler

SJ Blanks State For 1st '57 Win; Squares Record

by Dave Carey

St. Joseph's Pumas warmed up for the defense of their Indiana Conference title by rolling over a sluggish N.W. Missouri State college eleven 44-0 Saturday, Sept. 21.

An overcast sky and slow field failed to put a damper on the 1956 NAIA co-champions who piled up 492 yards, 390 by rushing, while holding the visiting Bearcats to a scant total of 74 yards. Seven St. Joseph's players made touchdowns as the Pumas scored in every quarter.

Romo Scores First TD

The Pumas took the opening kickoff and in eleven plays marched 57 yards to the Bearcat seven, where halfback Dick Romo took a pitchout from quarterback Jim O'Brien and scooted around left end for the score. Later in the opening stanza end Ed Labbe scooped up a punt blocked by end George Sherwood and carried it three yards for the marker.

In the second quarter sophomore halfback Les Klein raced 92 yards for the third Puma score. Norb Daigle converted, making the count 19-0. Near the end of the half quarterback Ralph Tite passed to his favorite target, Sherwood, who outran the secondary to score in a play covering 61 yards. Keith Fingerhut kicked the point and St. Joe led at the half, 26-0.

Fullbacks Star in Second Half

St. Joseph's only third period score came when Mike Murphy, 212 pound junior fullback, smashed over from the three yard line, climaxing a 77-yard drive that took ten plays.

Keith Fingerhut, senior fullback, plunged from three yards out in the fourth quarter, after his own thrusts had helped move the ball deep into Bearcat territory. Tite completed the scoring by sneaking over from the one.

Missouri St. Stymied by SJ Defense

N.W. Missouri State's chief offensive threat was quarterback Dick Powell, who completed five passes in seven attempts for 33 yards. The closest the Bearcats came to scoring was a late second quarter penetration to the Puma 18-yard line, but here the defense tightened and St. Joseph's took over on downs.

Big guns in the St. Joseph's attack were Klein, who carried four times for 107 yards, and Fingerhut, who gained 94 yards in 12 attempts. Daigle, who also carried

St. Joseph's 1956 Indiana Collegiate Conference football champions open their defense of the crown Sept. 28 at Greencastle, Ind., where they will challenge the DePauw Tigers.

DePauw, meanwhile, will be trying to improve their next-to-last ICC 1-5 record. Tiger head coach Bob Hicks will send a 37-man squad, which includes 12 lettermen, into the contest. Heading the list of returnees are All-Conference tackle Dwight Tallman and quarterback Morrie Goodnight.

SJ Leads in DePauw Series

Tallman, a 220-pound junior, drew a starting assignment as a freshman, and last year was DePauw's only representative on the All-Conference team. Goodnight, a 185-pound senior, has been the Tigers' top signal-caller for the past two years. Besides throwing for 408 yards and 5 TD's in 1956, Goodnight led the ICC in punting with a 39.3 yard average per game.

DePauw will be out to avenge last year's 32-0 defeat by the Pumas on the St. Joe field. The all-time series between the two foes finds St. Joe unbeaten in three contests.

Butler Loses 3 Key Men

On the following Saturday, Oct. 5, the Butler Bulldogs will invade the Puma gridiron in what shapes up as the most important conference game of the season for both teams. In 1956, St. Joe was undefeated in six conference games. Butler's second-place finishers lost but one game—to the Pumas, 31-6. Both teams have able lettermen returning, plus some good sophomores.

Butler coach Paul Hinkle, last year voted ICC "Coach of the Year," has never had a losing record in conference play since the league's inception in 1951. Hinkle this year has nine lettermen from 1956, but will have to fill some large gaps left by graduation. Missing from last year's lineup are three All-Conference choices—guard Bob Eichhoftz, tackle, Ken Nicholson, and fullback Leroy Thompson.

Moses, Harrell Pace Butler

Thompson, the ICC's leading scorer and ground gainer in 1956, is ably replaced by Nick Nardo, who finally gets a chance to start after subbing for Thompson for three years. Nardo, aiming for his fourth football letter, averaged a respectable four yards a try in 36 rushes last year.

Hinkle's "ace-in-the-hole," however, is junior quarterback John Moses. One of the top reasons for the success of the 1956 club, Moses set an ICC total offense record last year with 749 yards rushing and passing. For the entire season, he completed 46 of 81 passes for 822 yards and carried for 186 yards in 64 attempts.

Among the returnees is Moses' favorite target, senior end John Harrell. Harrell was the ICC's leading pass-catcher with 15 passes caught for 251 yards and three touchdowns. Both Harrell and Moses were Honorable Mention All-ICC in 1956.

New coach Joe Iofredo

Xavier Mixer Kicks Off 1957 Dance Schedule

The first mixer of the year was held last Saturday in the field-house. One hundred and fifty girls from St. Xavier's college in Chicago were the first group to come to the mixers at St. Joe this year.

On Oct. 5th approximately 200 girls from St. Mary of the Woods, Terre Haute, Ind., will journey to St. Joe to help root the Pumas to victory over Butler. When St. Joe travels to Terre Haute on Oct. 19 to play Indiana State, the girls of St. Mary's will be hostesses at a buffet dinner after the game.

Nurses to Attend Also

Two hundred girls from Rosary college, River Forest, Ill., are tentatively scheduled to attend the Evansville game here on Nov. 9.

Mundelein college will send about 200 girls to the campus for a mixer on Nov. 30.

Girls from St. Margaret School of Nursing, Hammond, Ind., and St. Mary Mercy Hospital, Gary, Ind., will also attend various mixers on campus during the year.

Student Council OK's Dances

Mixers are financed by the Student Council with Student Activity funds and with the cooperation of the Dance Committee. They are held as often as is financially possible within the Student Council calendar.

The purpose of the mixers is to afford St. Joe students an opportunity to meet young Catholic college women.

Every dance on campus is under the auspices of the Student Council. The Homecoming is directed by the Sophomore class and the Prom by the Junior class. The Homecoming and Prom Revels, the Mardi Gras, the Date Dance, and the mixers are directed by the Dance Committee.

Qubeck Replaces Glee Club Director

St. Joseph's Glee club begins this semester's series of concerts under the direction of Bernard E. Qubeck. Mr. Qubeck replaces Fr. Lawrence Heiman, C.P.P.S., who is now studying in Rome on a sabbatical leave.

The Glee club will present its first full-scale concert in Rensselaer, Friday afternoon, Oct. 4. On the evening of Nov. 6, the group will present another concert at Rensselaer's St. Augustine church. Both appearances are sponsored by the Women's Club of the town.

Mr. Qubeck, who last year handled the duties of St. Joe bandmaster, began directing glee clubs in the army during World War II. During the period 1941-46 he was the director of all-denominational choirs in a Texas hospital, and additionally handled the music for the "Army Hour" radio program in Dallas.

Prior to coming to Collegeville, Mr. Qubeck was head of the vocal department of Whiting H. S. For the last two years he was the director of the St. Margaret's School of Nursing extension group in Hammond.

Name Fr. Baird New Director Of SJ Athletics

The Rev. Richard P. Baird, C.P.P.S., has been appointed athletic director at St. Joseph's college, succeeding the Rev. Donald F. Shea, C.P.P.S., who will assume the duties of coordinator of student affairs, the position formerly held by the Rev. Joseph Smolar, C.P.P.S.

Fr. Shea, an assistant professor of history, will continue his teaching duties and Fr. Baird will likewise retain his position as admissions counselor.

Fr. Baird was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and entered the Society of the Most Precious Blood in 1932 and was ordained in 1940. Fr. Baird received his education at St. Ignatius high school, Cleveland, Cleveland college, St. Joseph's college, and St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio.

After his ordination in 1940, Fr. Baird worked in parishes in Michigan and New Jersey, serving as an assistant pastor and teacher. He was chaplain of St. Elizabeth's hospital in Dayton, Ohio, from 1947 to 1950 when he became admissions counselor here at St. Joe.

Besides these duties which he now performs, Fr. Baird also is director of summer events and has previously been director of placement.

Phase Late Again

The St. Joe yearbook will be late again this year, probably very late, according to moderator Fr. James Hinton. "We'll be lucky if we get Phase by Christmas," he says.

The 1957 edition of Phase was originally scheduled for distribution at the opening of school last week. But as of Sept. 1 not one page had been sent to the printer. Then on Sept. 16 the printer received 96 of the proposed 160 pages. Last year's editor John White is still working on the remaining pages.

Why all the delay? The moderator: "To get a book out on time, you have to start working on it in September and keep working at it throughout the year. Despite constant urging to the contrary, the staffs of the last three years have put off the bulk of their work until spring. Inevitable result: late yearbooks."

It would also help, says Fr. Hinton, if more students would volunteer to work on the annual—especially those with yearbook experience.

Six Sisters Leave; Four Remain Here

Six of the 10 sisters who staffed the college kitchen have left St. Joseph's for other assignments and the remaining four are to leave at the end of the school year.

Laymen and women have replaced the nuns in the kitchen. Lack of vocations for this type of work among the Precious Blood Sisters is the reason for the move.
